Information Drawn From U.S. Census Reports and 1885 History of DeKalb County, Indiana

My great great grandfather, George Putt, was born Nov., 19, 1814 in Berks County, Pennsylvania.

George Putt was the eldest son of Jacob and Catharine Shaffer Putt. I have come to believe that this does not necessarily make him the eldest son of Jacob Putt.

Jacob Putt and Catharine Shaffer were born in Pennsylvania. At least one of them had an English ancestor. My assumption has been that it was Jacob who was part English.

George Putt began driving a freight team over the mountains when he was 15 years old (1829 or 1830.)

After George and Sarah Ann Getz Putt left Pennsylvania for the "west," they spent 11 months in Starke County, Ohio. Starke County is where Benjamin Putt and part of his family had settled. (This is from Dawne-Slater Putt's book on Benjamin Putt.) Also from Dawne's book: Benjamin had a son in 1815 and named him "Jacob."

I have looked at 6 census reports that are possibly our Jacob Putt's information. In 3 of these reports, 1800, 1810 and 1840, the name is spelled Jacob "Pott," and there were people named Pott in Berks Co. When I was in Berks County and Lebanon County, I looked for property records, but did not find any land ownership, which would have helped clarified some of this, for the Putts.

In the first census, 1790, Jacob Putt was counted in Hereford Twp., Berks Co., Penna., with one white female and 2 white males under 16. Jacob would have fallen into the category of "free white males 16 and up." All one could draw from this for his age would be that he had to have been born in 1774 or earlier. Although there could be other explanations, this looks like a husband and wife with 2 sons younger than 16.

In the 1800 census of Hereford Twp., Jacob Pott was age 26-44, with a wife (we presume), also age 26-44. This would have had them both born between 1756 and 1774. There were 4 children, 2 girls and 1 boy age 0-9, and another boy age 10-15.

In 1810, we find Jacob Pott in Heidelberg Twp, Berks, Co., Penna. Jacob was 45 and up, making his birth year 1765 or earlier. The oldest female was 16-25. Was this Catharine, a housekeeper, or another relative of some kind? Anyway, the span of possible birth years for her is 1785 to 1794. There was 1 boy and 1 girl in the 0-9 age group, 1 boy and either 1 or 2 girls (I think it's 2) in the 10-15 age group. There is also what looks like a 1 changed to a 0 in the 16-25 male group. The 3 children in the 0-9 group would have been born since the last census, The boy who had been in the 0-9 group could be the boy in the 10-15 group, and the boy who had been 10-15 would be out on his own. The 2 girls who had been between 0 and 9 very likely would be in the 10-15 age group in 1910.

In 1820, we find Jacob Putt in Heidelberg, Berks, Penna. He was still in the 45 and up group, making his birth year 1775 or earlier. The adult female in this household fell into the 18-44 category, making possible a birthyear between 1776 and 1802. There were 2 sons (one must have been George) in the 0-9 age bracket and 3 girls between 0 and 9. Since George, the eldest, was born in 1814, that makes 5 children born in 6 years, doesn't it?

In 1830, Jacob Putt is still being counted in Heidelberg, Berks, Penna. He was between 60 and 69 years of age, and Catharine was between 30 and 39 years of age. The age discrepancy is very obvious here. Jacob was born between 1761 and 1770, Catharine was born between 1791 and 1800. There were 2 boys between 0 and 4 years, 2 boys and 2 girls between 5 and 9 years, 1 boy 10-14 years (George must have been out on his own already), 1 girl 10-14 years, and 1 girl 15-19 years.

Here's what this has been leading up to: There is a large age gap between Jacob and Catharine. I have come to believe that the Jacob Putt in the 1790 census is our Jacob Putt with his first family. Left a widower, he had a large second family with Catharine.

In the 1840 census, we find Jacob Pott in Heidelberg, Berks, Penna. If this is our Jacob Putt, he has suddenly grown younger – or somebody is fibbing. It looks like a 3 generation household, with a young man and a young woman of 20-29 years, a boy and girl of 0-4 years, 3 boys 5-9 years, a male and a female of 15-19. The eldest female is also 50-59 years. In all the previous census reports, Jacob Putt was considerably older. If these age slots are to be taken at face value, there is a possibility of only a 9 year age difference. There are lots of possibilities, including the fact, that someone other than Jacob or Catharine (even the neighbor) could have given the information to the census taker. By now, with all those children, Catharine could have looked nearer Jacob's age.

My grandmother Enoch Pratt, introduced me to this article of course by saying I descended from the idea that Jacob, though born in Pennsylvania, was English. I told her that everyone else says that he was German. I'm still waiting for verification one way or another.

The bit about his being the eldest son of Jacob and Catherine is something I will come back to.

George Putt, one of the most prosperous and prominent of the early settlers of De Kalb County, was born in Berks County, Pa., Nov. 19, 1814, the eldest son of Jacob and Catharine (Shaffer) Putt, natives of Pennsylvania, of English and German descent. He was reared in his native State, and when fifteen years of age began driving a freight team over the mountains, a vocation he followed fifteen years. About 1835 he settled in Lebanon County, Pa., and in 1841 moved to Stark County, Ohio, and eleven months later, in 1842, came to Indiana and entered forty acres of land, and bought forty more in De Kalb County. It was located in the dense timber, but he went to work and soon had enough cleared to build a log cabin and raise a crop. He has been successful and to his land has added forty acres till now he has 120 acres of choice land, all well improved. He was married Nov. 15, 1835, to Sarah Ann, daughter of Nicholas and Elizabeth (Polm) Getz, natives of Pennsylvania, of German descent. To them were born two children --Levi and Joanna Elizabeth Catharine, wife of John Anstett. Mrs. Putt died Sept. 9, 1884. She, as has also Mr. Putt, had been a member of the German Reform church from her youth. Politically, Mr. Putt is a Democrat.

David Reinochl, deceased, one of the most esteemed pioneers of Fairfield Township, was born in Lebanon County, Pa., Feb. 22, 1809, the eldest of nine children of Michael and Catherine the 1930 & 1840 census, ian in both parts family were living in k Co

U.S. Family Census History

The purpose of the U.S. Family Census History form is to track multi-generational families through time using the information provided by U.S. Census enumerations. You can also track multi-generational families as well. Shaded boxes signify that information was not asked for by the enumerator during that census year.

Interesting thoughts. I also have a few thoughts on Jacob. What if the Jacob married to Catherine Shaffer, was a junior...the son of Jacob who may have fathered my William in 1793. I've seen Jacob's birth date of 1791 mentioned several places...although also mentioned that he was born in Germany (which we both agree was probably in error)...such as here: http://genforum.genealogy.com /putt/messages/310.html. What if he was the older brother to my William (only two years apart), fathered by Jacob Putt/Pott mentioned in the Hereford census 1790, 1800 and the Heidelberg census 1810, 1820, 1830. The 1840 census showing the oldest male and female members of the household are btw 50-59...which puts it close to 1791 at 50 years age. All the previous Heidelberg census data shows a continuity in increasing age of Jacob into the 60-69 in 1830...which makes sense if the elder Jacob were born in abt 1765 like I estimated. My thought process is that Jacob born abt 1765 probably fathered children into the late 1700's...but not well into the 1820's-30's...which is well documented with Catherine Shaffer and the birth of your George, Levi, Franklin, etc. This would go against your theory of Jacob having two wives. I have always speculated that Jacob (father of William) passed btw 1830-40, due to the difference in the age of the eldest member of the household between census's, and that the Jacob in 1840 (possibly married to Catherine Shaffer) was indeed the son of the elder Jacob.

Your thoughts?

Of course, there is no way to prove any of this without definitive documentation in a church register or through DNA. I live about 45 minutes from Reading...the historical society and the genealogical society as well...which will provide a wealth of information. But I work in Washington DC throughout the week, home on weekends, and I just don't have the time to physically go to places to research this. So it will have to wait for now.

I have to tell you that I had supposed that Jacob Putt might have been part of the Reformed congregation which also met in St. Daniel's Church, because George (my ancestor) and his wife were part of the Reformed Church in Womelsdorf. (I have been looking for my photocopies from that church and can't find them.) George and Sarah were part of the group that started St. John's Reformed in DeKalb County, Indiana. Of course, George's choice might have been heavily influenced by his wife. St. John's is still in use, but it is a United Church of Christ now, since the Reformed and the Congregational churches united.

Of course, George's choice might have been heavily influenced by his wife. St. John's is still in use, but it is a United Church of Christ now, since the Reformed and the Congregational churches united.

The reason that I started looking for that specific set of photocopies this afternoon is that I recall an Andrew Putt, in George's age group, having a child baptized in Womelsdorf. I was wondering if I could turn up enough information on him to identify his ancestry. There was a time that Benjamin Putt, a little older than Jacob, but not old enough to be his father, lived in Berks Co. before he moved to Ohio. I have been wondering if he left any children behind in Berks, Co., or if Andrew might have been from Jacob's first marriage.

I looked at the Berks Co. index of Church records - found 14 pages of Putts! That is a nice, but expensive service. It kind of stirred up thoughts of going to Pennsylvania again, but I think we had better just drive to Ft. Wayne a few times.

Carolyn,
Thank you very much for the emails. I love the fact that you have really exploited a lot of information regarding the Putt line. I have come to the exact same conclusions with most of these resources you have cited, but haven't had anyone to bounce my hypothesis off of. I don't know who Jacob's second wife was and I only know of William as a child (my 4G Grandfather). I have a lot of information regarding my Putt line back to William and only have one reference to cite for Jacob and his father Johannes...and they did reside in Wormelsdorf. Williams' first son Edward J. who later would become a doctor, was born in Wormelsdorf on May 23, 1918.

I am aware of Mongomery's history (p 733) on Berks County in which he goes as length about the Putt's. You can view it online through the Library of Congress here: http://www.archive.org/details/cu31924097286300 But I was really unsure what is factual and what is believed to be in error regarding this source, and I couldn't directly link it to my Jacob due to the fact that it cites him coming from Germany, and doesn't have William mentioned at all. But if in fact Jacob had two wives...then that would make perfect sense. William was born in 1793.

Another reference actually mentioned William being the brother of Henry, from the Berks County, PA Putt clan.

PUTT. There is a large circle of persons named Putt, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania. They claim to be of German descent, and that the name was originally identical with Pott. In 1876, George W. Putt stated that his grandfather, Henry Putt, of Berks County, removed to Bedford County at an early day and made a settlement there. Henry is alleged to have had brothers John, William, Jacob, Joseph and George. Source: Historical Collections relating to The Potts Family in Great Britain and America with a historic-genealogy of the descendants of David Potts, an early Anglo-Welsh settler of Pennsylvania, including contributions by the late William John Potts.
Compiled by: Thomas Maxwell Potts
Published: 1901 in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, U.S.A. by the author. At least 163 copies were printed, with at least one copy in the Pennsylvania Historical Society at Philadelphia and online via the Library of Congress.

There is a another source, which may help all of us determine the exact line: Transcript of the old records of births and baptisms (1753-1860) of the Lutheran Congregation of Heidelberg: named St. Daniels Church, and known locally as "Corner Church" or "Eck Kirch": situated in Heidelber Township, Berks County, Pennsylvania: by Michael Alvin Gruber. published in Washington DC, 1908. It contains over 1100 pages of information and it's only hard copy that I can find in a library exists at the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Philadelphia Library. I'm going to have to make a trip to visit

As a direct descendent of William Putt, I am willing to work on the DNA project with you. Just let me know when you propose to do this and I'll look into getting a kit to participate. I have been considering doing this for some of my other lines which I can not trace back much further, but which a DNA test may assist.

Regarding the census information you sent in another email...I came to the same conclusions, but I had trouble discerning Putt from Pott. Everything you have looks right to me. I've been working on this line for well over 10 years and I had recently taken a break. But I'll be getting back into it soon and I plan to update my Ancestry account as well, pending the release of the 1940 US census. If you want, I can allow you access to my private tree, which has everything I have on the Putt's. It may help at some point to see how my line crosses into yours.

Chris, I responded to your message on Ancestry, but I have been trying to access the Biographies section of the DeKalb Co., Indiana GenWeb site, where you could read my great great grandfather's entry in the 1885 History of DeKalb County, Indiana. My printer still works well, except it refuses to scan. If you live in Pennsylvania, you probably can find Montgomery's 1909 history of Berks County in a library. If you have not read it, there is an entry by George Putt (Joseph, Jacob) which contains family history, some of it inaccurate, in V. 1, p 733.

Do you have the name of Jacob Putt's first wife? And the names of her children, besides William?

In the Montgomery history, Jacob's children with Catharine Shaffer are listed as follows: Joseph, George, Thomas, Jacob, Henry, Franklin, Levi, Frederick, Sophia (married Adam Deppen), Susan - 1st m. Elijah Hassler 2nd m. John Leninger, Peggy m. Mr. Heckler, and Sarah. These are not in chronological order.

Jane Curci (a descendant of Henry Putt of Huntingdon Co, PA) and I have been talking for several years about starting a DNA surname project, and I thought we were finally ready, but Jane has had a serious health crisis in her family and has dropped out, so I'm not sure much will happen. We are joining a Putnam/Putman project, because the surnames come from the same root. Jacob Putt is being represented by a descendant of his son, Levi - that DNA has been sent in. I'm not sure we will be able to get anyone from Henry Putt's line. I had also hoped to get someone from Benjamin Putt's family to participate - it doesn't look very promising right now. I am almost positive that Benjamin and Jacob were closely related. All three of these lines used the same first names over and over. If you know of a male Putt descended from William, it would be wonderful if he would participate.

I have not been able to find marriage records of Jacob to anyone at all. I believe the family may have lived near Womelsdorf.

ITEMS OF COVENANTER HISTORY.

The following extracts are from an old pamphlet dated in 1802. Pages one to nine are missing. It seems to be a copy of the minutes of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Presbytery of Kentucky:

"A Mr. Ervin was licensed at last meeting, and bids fair to be useful."

"Mr. McGill has not been long enough in this congregation to ascertain the number of families under his charge."

"In Mr. Porter's congregation there are 260 families and 520 communicants."

"Mr. James McAuley, probationer, went to the Carolinas and Georgia.

JAMES MCGILL, Moderator,
ALEXANDER PORTER, P. Clerk.

September 3, 1802.

The Presbytery of Kentucky suspended Mr. R. Warwick. " * * that our Academy in Lexington appears to prosper, we have a considerable large brick house, ready for the accommodation of students; about one hundred schollars now attend it; twenty of whom are studying the Latin and Greek languages. The funds for the support of this institution are 4,500 acres of land, which with the house and lot are deeded to the Associate—Reformed Synod. (worth about $10,000.)

JOHN STEELE, Clerk.

Hephzibah Meeting House, Sep. 8th, 1802.

Rev. Thomas G. Smith suspended. The Presbyteries of New York and Washington constitute one Synod, called Synod of New York." The first Presbytery of Pennsylvania was divided into two Presbyteries, as follows: The one to consist of the Rev. Messrs. Robert Annan, Alexander Dobbin, and Ebenezer Dickey, to be called the Presbytery of Philadelphia. The other to consist of the Rev. Messrs. William Logan, John Young, Thomas Smith, James Walker, James McConnel, William Baldridge, and James Harper, jr. To be called the Presbytery of Big Spring, the second Presbytery of Pennsylvania was changed to "Monongahela."

Their first Synod of Pennsylvania was held at Marsh Creek on Wednesday, May 25, 1803. The Synod of Sciota at Chelicothe in May 1804; the Synod of the Carolinas in 1803. The Rev. Peter McMillan and William Dixon declined the authority of this Synod.

October 23, 1803.

The Rev. Thomas G. Smith declined to submit to the censure of the Synod. He joined the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church.

ALEXANDER PROUDFIT, Clerk.

In 1801 Rev. John Mitchell Mason was sent to Scotland and Ireland, where he induced several young ministers of the Covenanter faith to go to America and preach. This was a period of great prosperity in the Associate Reformed Church in the United States of America. In Kentucky the congregations were very large. There was great activity among the ministers, who tarveled over the country preaching in private dwellings and barns. There was a surprising number of ministers who were suspended for apparent trivial causes, and they almost invariably refused to make a public acknowledgment of their error, but were always ready to "argue the question." There are only a few churches in Pennsylvania of this faith now, where there were many eighty years ago. The present generation seldom hear of the "Covenanters." They have gradually drifted to the Presbyterian church, which held to the same cardinal beliefs, and only differed in church government. SAMUEL EVANS.

EDWARD J. PUTT, M. D.

Edward J. Putt was born May 23, 1819, near Womelsdorf, Berks county, Pa.; died October 24, 1883, at Highspire. He was a descendant of the Johannes Putt who emigrated to America on the ship Halifax, landing at Philadelphia on the 22d of September, 1752. The doctor's grandfather was Jacob Putt, and his father the late William Putt, who married Catharine Hoffman. The father came from Berks county in early life to what is now Oak Lane farm, owned by Colonel James Young, in Lower Swatara township, and after discontinuing farming, resided for a few years in Middletown, from whence he removed to Harrisburg, where he was employed as prison watchman and afterwards superintendent of the Harrisburg cemetery. His children were:

i. Dr. Edward J.
ii. Benneville; d. in Wormleysburg.
iii. Elvira; d. s. p.
iv. Alfred H.; residing in Halifax.
v. Frank; residing in Harrisburg.
vi. William J.; residing at Camp Hill.
vii. John H.; d. in Wormleysburg.
viii. Augustus H.

Doctor Putt was a self-made man. H ncestry.com - Print Image http://search.ancestry.com/Browse/print_u.aspx?dbid=14844&iid=d...

received his education in the common schools of his day and by private study until he was fitted to teach school, which profession he followed several winters, in the meantime reading medicine with his uncle, the late Dr. Jonathan Zerbe, of Sheafferstown. After graduating in Philadelphia in 1842, he located at Highspire, where he continued in the active practice of his profession about forty-six years. His professional life was an arduous one, and the range of his practice was quite extensive, reaching beyond the South mountain in York county. Dr. Putt married Cassia Oberly, daughter of Frederick Oberly and his wife, Maria Sheaffer, who, with three children, survive—Augustus, of Highspire; Dr. Morris Oberly, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, practicing medicine at Oberlin; and Alice. The first and last of his children are mutes. The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, October 27, 1888, in the U. B. church, conducted by Revs. E. L. Hughes and J. B. Doucherly.

HECKEWELDER ON INDIAN NAMES.

[For the following transcript of an original manuscript preserved among the "Heckewelder Papers" in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, we are indebted to Mr. John W. Jordan. This valuable series of queries and replies, although signed by Mr. Heckewelder, is undated and unaddressed, but it is believed the querist was his friend, Dr. Caspar Wistar, of Philadelphia. It is given to our readers in precisely the form it was prepared, and is a verbatim et literatim copy.]

I.

Early in the present century, when there was a growing spirit of inquiry among men of science in our country, in the department of Indian archæology, it is no surprise to find that the Rev. JOHN HECKEWELDER, who for near half a century was engaged in the Indian mission of the Moravian church, was called upon to contribute to the world what had fallen within his observation and knowledge. His literary labors, therefore, began when he had long passed the meridian of a memorable life. At the request of the Historical and Literary Committee of the American Philosophical Society he contributed occasional essays, which were published in their transactions, and in 1818, under their auspices, he prepared his "Account of the History, Manners, and Customs of the Indian Natives who once inhabited Pennsylvania and the neighboring States." This work was translated into German by the Rev. F. Hesse, of Nienburg, and published in 1821 at Gottingen. A French translation by P. S. Du Ponceau, appeared in 1822 in Paris. In 1876, a new and revised edition, with an introduction and notes by the Rev. William C. Reichel, was published by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. His "Narrative of the Mission of the United Brethren among the Delaware and Mohican Indians," appeared in 1820, and in 1822, his last literary effort, "Names which the Lenni Lenape, or Delaware Indians gave to Rivers, Streams and Localities within the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, and Virginia, with their Significations." In addition to the published works of Mr. Heckewelder, there are many valuable journals and essays in manuscript preserved in the archives of the Moravian Church at Bethlehem, in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and among his descendants. Two of of the former have been annotated by John W. Jordan, and published in the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, viz: "Notes of Travel of William Henry, John Heckewelder, John Rothrock and Christian Clewell, in Gnadenhutten on the Muskingum, in the early Summer of 1797," and "Narrative of John Heckewelder's Journey to the Wabash in 1792." This latter journal was published in Germany. "Johann Heckewelder's Reise von Bethlehem in Pensilvania bis zum Wabash Fluss in Nordwestlichen Gebiet der Vereinigten Staaten, Nord-Amerika mit anmerkungen herausgegeben von M. C. Sprengel, Halle, 1797."

Questions Put to Friend Heckewelder—His Answers.

Q. How were you in Bodily Health since we saw each other last?

A. Subject to various changes—troubled much with Rheumatic pains, especially at sudden changes of the weather, and in spring and fall seasons.

Q. How did you amuse yourself and spend your time; was it in piety and the fear of God, or was it in pursuit of the things that afforded enjoyment in this world?

PUTT. There is a large circle of persons named Putt, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania. They claim to be of German descent, and that the name was originally identical with Pott. In 1876, George W. Putt stated that his grandfather, Henry Putt, of Berks County, removed to Bedford County at an early day and made a settlement there. Henry is alleged to have had brothers John, William, Jacob, Joseph and George.

Wm 1798-1883
Margaret 1810-1849

Carolyn according to a family history written about 1890, Henry Putt came from Germany. We know little else except that he was a farmer and a miller. He sold land in 1801 to Thomas Davis and William Lane on Yellow Creek a tributary of Juniata River so they could build an Iron forge/mill on the property. Henry was born about 1753 in Germany and lived in Hopewell Township in Bedford Co for many years. In 1798 Henry is shown on the US Direct Tax List. Prior to that he is shown in Mifflen Co., PA as Henry Butt (B being a P in German). Henry married circa 1780 to Sarah Shoup who we believe is the daughter of Heinrich Shoup b. ca. 1737 and who comes from Switzerland. By 1808 Henry had 3 lots of land, 100 acres, 5 horses & 3 cattle. His occupation is not shown, it is left blank. Single Freemen were: Michael Putt & Jacob Putt. We believe the children of Henry & Sarah are: Elizabeth, Katherine, Jacob, Maria, Henry, Michael, Abel and William. Jacob married Mary Meyer. Bedford County Genealogy Project, Site Map There are some Putt family members I THINK shown at the referenced cite above. As well as on RootsWeb.com Home Page and ancestry.com. We have never been able to find Henry on any of the ship passenger lists that are available although we have found the Shoup family. There are a number of stories about Henry's origins in that some claim he was a neighbor of Shoup in the old country and that he came here to work for Heinrich Shoup and married his daughter. As previously stated Henry was German, Heinrich was Swiss (though he probably spoke German). Some cousins believe they lived across the river (dividing Switzerland from Germany) from one another, using the term neighbor rather liberally. What bothers me is that there was a large contingency of Germans residing in Bedford yet there is no German newspapers in the Historical Society's records which is unusual. Wherever Germans lived they almost always had a German newspaper. I understand the Historical Society is made up of some really nice folks but it does not appear they have a lot in their records. The County records are berefit of any marriage or death records. After all these years you would think that I would be smart enough to write to Harrisburg to see what records they have but it seems like I am always busy and never have enough time or obviously sense to write. Is this my Henry with all those brothers listed? I haven't the faintest idea. I believe he came here as a young man, alone or perhaps with some friends. But a cousin says almost everyone came with family, that is what she was taught in genealogy classes. So what is the answer? We have found nothing to indicate that Henry was ever in Berks County but faint info that he may have been in Northampton, definitely in Mifflen and in Bedford Counties. We believe that Henry moved to Bedford when he was about 40-45, not an early age as suggested, though as with all things we could be wrong. For being as old a county as Bedford is you would think they would have more, but they only appear to have land and some probate records. Marriage records are for a few years in the 1850s, then after 1880. No birth records until the 20th century. William Putt b. 1798 (a son of Henry and Sarah) had a son, George born 1837 in Bedford. Does this help? The 1876 statement does not help much in that there are no years of birth, places of birth or if they came with Henry to the USA, etc. Obviously George Putt was born a whole lot earlier than I but if he is the one born in 1837 he would not have even known his grandfather (we believe Henry died before 1830 in Bedford Co.). Perhaps his family were the kind that talked about their family history but my mother's side were all Germans and you could not have found your history by talking to them, they were tight lipped in the extreme. It took a lot of work for me to get my German family done without my Germany grandparents help. My grandmother had stories to tell about growing up in Germany but nothing of real substance with regards to her family. Keep in touch. Pat

My new probable distant cousin recently sent me a quotation from the Historical Collections relating to The Potts Family in Great Britain and America with a historic-genealogy of the descendants of David Potts, and early Anglo-Welsh settler of Pennsylvania, including contributions by the late William John Potts. Apparently, they published whatever was at hand on Putts and Potts, as well as on the particular family they were writing about. Here is the quotation, and this is all there is to it: "There is a large circle of persons named Putt, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania. They claim to be of German descent, and that the name was originally identical with Pott. In 1876, George W. Putt stated that his grandfather, Henry Putt, of Berks County, removed to Bedford County at an early day and made a settlement there. Henry is alleged to have had brothers John, William, Jacob, Joseph and George."

You may have seen this, too, but I had never been able to do anything with it, because I knew that Jacob had sons named Henry, Jacob, Joseph and George (as well as 4 more sons and 4 daughters), but I knew nothing about John and William. I realize now that a younger man, named John Putt, appears on the same page on a couple of census reports, and of course, there is the William Putt, father of Dr. Edward Putt.

Now, is this Henry the same person as the Henry who was in your family? I had fancied that your Henry might be Jacob's brother, not his son. Or were there 2 different early Henry Putt settlers in Bedford Co.? Did your Henry have a grandson named George W.?

This is turning out to be more confusing than I had ever expected.

Will of William Pott/Butt (d 1774)

William Pott, who is believed to be identical with Johann Wilhelm Pott, son of Wilhelm Pott, the emigrant, was a resident of Huntingdon Township, York (now included in Adams) County, Pennsylvania. His wife's name was Margaret. He died in 1774. His will is recorded at York. The wife and children are mentioned by name.

CHILDREN OF WILLIAM AND MARGARET (——) POTT.

2 William Pott. 4 John Pott. 6 Benjamin Pott.
3 Jacob Pott. 5 Degenhard Pott. 7 Catharine Pott.

Benjamin Potts, born about 1775, in York County, may have been a grandson of William Pott. His descendants claim to be of Dutch descent. When about 18 years of age, he entered the army and served three years, under General Anthony Wayne, in the Indian wars. He had a brother John who was with him in the army, and both were taken prisoners by the Indians. A few years after his discharge from the army, he married Abigail Peer, in New Jersey. After living in New Jersey a few years, they removed to the Dominion of Canada. At the outbreak of the War of 1812, they were compelled to leave, for refusing to take the oath of allegience to Great Britain. From Canada they removed to Bellville, Richland County, Ohio, where they continued until 1836. In that year they removed to Jefferson Township, Noble County, Indiana. Benjamin Potts died in 1859, aged 85 years, and Abigail Potts, in August, 1851.

CHILDREN OF BENJAMIN AND ABIGAIL (PEER) POTTS.

1 Lewis Potts, b. June 30, 1801; d. June 26, 1850; m. Cath. Lash.
2 Sarah Potts, died young, in Ohio.
3 John Potts, died in Nebraska.
4 Elizabeth Potts, died in Ohio.
5 Mary Potts, m. —— Walters; died in Indiana.
6 Jacob Potts, died in Nebraska.
7 Abigail Potts, m. —— James; died at DesMoines, Iowa.
8 Phebe Potts, m. —— Wetrick; at Princeton, Iowa.

Pott Family 1

The Pott Family.

Read before the Historical Society of Schuylkill County, June 3rd, 1904, by D. G. LUBOLD, Recording Secretary.

The history of this family in America begins with the arrival of Wilhelm Pott and family at Philadelphia on September 12th, 1734, in the ship St. Andrew. The family consisted of his wife Gertrude, two minor sons, John Wilhelm and John, and a step-son, Peter Lobach, aged 14, who was the wife's son by her former husband, Peter Lobach. They were also accompanied by Dagenhard Pott, a younger brother of Wilhelm. It is said Dagenhard died unmarried, a few years after his arrival.

It is supposed that Wilhelm Pott was a native of Germany. There is, however, a tradition in the family that their ancestors were among those driven from Holland to England by the persecutions of the Duke of Alva, but returned to Holland in the time of Charles the First.

Wilhelm Pott was an iron-master of some means. He first settled at Germantown, but soon moved to Oley, Berks County, at that time the frontier settlement of Philadelphia County. His selection of this locality, in which to invest his money and establish a permanent home, is explained by the fact that rich deposits of iron-ore had been early discovered in its hills, and there, a few years before, had been erected the first forge and furnace in the Province. Pool Forge, a few miles from the mouth of the Maxatawny Creek, built in the year 1718, and Colebrookdale Furnace, some miles farther up the valley, built in the year 1720, were the beginnings of the great iron industry of Pennsylvania.

In the present Rockland and District Townships he bought a large tract of land, clearing and cultivating portions of it as farms. Here was the home of three generations of the family. On Pine Creek, a branch of the Maxatawny, he erected a forge known as District Forge. With it was also connected, as was the custom in those days, a small furnace to smelt ore and make castings. In later years the forge was known as the Heilig Forge, but at present there are no traces of it remaining. A short distance below the forge he built a stone grist-mill. This old building is still standing, and its site is one of the first to be improved in that part of Berks County. Still farther down the stream, on the present site of Lobachsville, he built a fulling-mill. In the year 1745 he conveyed this mill and fifty-nine acres of land to his stepson, Peter Lobach, who added a dye-house, a chair-factory and a turning-mill, and by his energy and industry developed the place into the thriving town that bears his name.

It is not known that Wilhelm Pott was connected with any church. Oley was like an eddy along the stream of immigration, into which representatives of almost every sect and denomination drifted. Nowhere else were the evils of so many divisions among the churches so plainly to be seen. Perhaps it was this that led him to become, as he did, one of the small number of men who formed a religious society under the name of the Associated Brethren of the Skippack. It was to be a non-sectarian organization, whose members aimed to impart religious instruction to all settlers irrespective of creed, and to unite the many sects. The movement did not prosper, and most of the Brethern ended their days within the Moravian fold.

Wilhelm Pott died in the year 1767. There is no record of his wife's death. They were buried on the homestead. According to the information at hand, they had only two children:

2. i.—John Wilhelm.
3. ii.—John, m. Maria Hoch.

II. John Wilhelm Pott, (Wilhelm), is said to have been about ten years old when he was brought, by his parents, Wilhelm and Gertrude Pott, to Pennsylvania. Nothing definite concerning his later history has been learned. The descendants of his brother, John, speak of him as William and have always understood that he emigrated beyond the Susquehanna River, and that some of his descendants went to Virginia. The following records are here given with the hope that they may lead to the identification of the family:

William Pott, of Rockland Township, Berks County, made a will October 18, 1781, which was proved at Reading, December 17th of the same year. In it he mentions these children:

i.—William, deceased.
ii.—John.
iii.—Catharine, wife of Casper Schell.

He bequeaths 120 pounds, Pennsylvania currency, to the children of his eldest son, William, (deceased), "to whom he had given valuable consideration during his life-time, including the property where he (the son) lived." To John he bequeaths his saw-mill in Rockland Township. He also remembers in his will a grand-daughter, Ann Mary, daughter of Catharine, "for faithful service to him." The executors were John Pott, and Daniel Levan, of Oley Township.

The will of John Pott, of Amity Township, was proved April 12, 1811. In it he mentions a wife and children, but their names are not given. The executors were John Pott and Phillip Geiger.

William Pott, who had settled in Huntingdon Township, York County, (now Adams), died in the year 1774. In his will, which is recorded at York, he mentions his wife, Margaret, and the following children:

i.—William.
ii.—Jacob.
iii.—John.
iv.—Dagenhard.
v.—Benjamin.
vi.—Catharine.

It is possible that the William who settled in York County was the "eldest deceased son" of the William who died in 1781, and so was the grand-son, instead of the son, of the founder of the family.

III. John Pott (Wilhelm), son of Wilhelm and Gertrude Pott, was a mere child when brought to this country by his parents. He was naturalized, September 24, 1759. On December 23, 1755, he married Maria Hoch (b. December, 1730), a daughter of John Hoch, whose father, Rudolph (d. January 8, 1748), with a brother, Mel-

We are living in and restoring the Pott Mansion, built c. 1734 in Lobachsville, Oley Valley, Berks County, and have been doing ongoing research on the Pott family.

As you probably know, apart from the usual problems with colonial records, you have two added problems: the Potts family, from Wales, was doing the same thing as the Pott family from Germany, i.e. making iron, and in the same geographical area at the same time! Additionally, every generation of the Pott family had a John and a William in it. However, we have examined a suprising amount of still extant records and are using them to correlate the various narrative accounts. We feel we have a fairly good handle on the Pott family in Oley.

Wilhelm Pott, the immigrant, was a successful businessman Germany. He was a Protestant, a very religious Moravian, and, I assume, was persecuted to some extent in his native land. During a trip to England c. 1732 Wilhelm met agents of John Penn ("The American"), who were encouraging people to move to the colony of Pennsylvania. Wilhelm was impressed by their accounts of the iron making possibilities in the Oley area and, in 1734, he immigrated to Pennsylvania. [John Penn himself visited Pennsylvania in Sep 1734. "Penn, his brother Thomas, and their agents were responsible for the infamous 'Walking Purchase,' which swindled the Lenape Indians out of more than one million acres (400,000 ha) of Pennsylvania" --Wikipedia.]

Wilhelm arrived in Philadelphia on 24 Sep 1734 on the ship "St. Andrew" captained by John Stedman. This was the primary immigration of the Shwenkfelders to Pennsylvania, although he was not one of them. Wilhelm was accompanied by his brother Deganhart, sons Wilhelm and Johannes and his wife Gertrude. Gertrude was the widow of Peter Lobach and they brought 14 yr. old Peter Lobach, Wilhelm's stepson, with them. Wilhelm stayed in Germantown for a brief time, then moved up to the Oley valley to establish Ironworks. (Wilhelm set Peter up in business in 1746 and the Lobach Family stayed in the area long after the Pott family had died out here. Our village Lobachsville is named after them.)

Accordingly, Wilhelm bought land surrounding Pine Creek and Manatawney Creek for power sources. The deed to our property was transferred to Wilhelm in 1739, but in all likelihood the Pott family was here by 1735. Wilhelm established and/or bought several iron forges, a sawmill and fulling mill. He was in buisness with the famous Oley Iron Master, Col. John Lesher, but we do not know to what extent. Wilhelm's grandson married Lesher's grand daughter. They were one of the few Berks county families to own black slaves. The Pott family was rich but lived rather plainly. Wilhelm built our house some time between 1735-1745. Wilhelm was very religious and was active in the Oley Moravian movement. He travelled frequently to Montgomery County on religious matters and was a friend, presumably of the famous Moravian, Heinrich Antes. [See http://www.enter.net/~vexillog/AntesJohannHeinrich.html for more on Antes.]

Wilhelm died in 1781. I have examined his original signed will and estate inventory, which is on record in the Berks County Courthouse. Wilhelm's eldest son William died young and his next son John carried on the family name and enterprise until his death in 1805. I have examined his original will and estate inventory; he lived much more lavishly than his dad!

John's eldest son John, Jr. had been sent up to what became Skuylkill County to run a newly acquired iron works c. 1796. He remained there until his death in 1829 and is credited with laying out Pottsville and utilizing anthracite coal in the production of iron. I should note that Pottstown and Pottsgrove are named after the Potts family, not our people. John left his Oley holdings, including our farm, to his eldest son William in 1805. William, however, relocated to Franklin County (Gettysberg) c. 1808 and the Oley properties came into the possession of John, Jr. in Pottsville, although he never came back to live here.

I presume that William sold his holdings to his older brother John to finance his move to Franklin County. Upon John's death his Oley poperties were inherited by his son Benjamin who promptly had them surveyed and sold them back to the Weidners in 1830.

The last Pott of influence in Oley died in 1805 i.e. John Pott, Sr. The mansion began a slow descent into oblivion, and from 1959-2000 was often vacant. We are presently restoring it. It is a fine and in many ways unique old Pennsylvania. German House. We have located a family grave yard on the property but I doubt anyone was buried there after possibly John Sr.

We are living in and restoring the Pott Mansion, built c. 1774 in Independence, Clay Valley, Peoria County, and have been doing ongoing research on the Pott family.

As you probably know, apart from the usual problems with colonial records, you have two added problems: the Pott family, from Wales, was living the same thing as the Fitz family from Germany, i.e. moving from, and in the same geographical area as the same Christ (Middle) name every generation of the Pott family had a John and a William in it. However, we have uncovered a surprising amount of old source records and are using these to complete the various genealogy accounts. We feel we have a fairly good handle on the Pott family in Clay.

William Pott, the immigrant, was a successful businessman (Saturday, PA was a Protestant, a very religious Christian, and I assume, was persecuted to some extent in the native lands. Coming a city to England c. 1722 William met agents of John Penn ("The Absentee"), who were encouraging people to move to the colony of Pennsylvania. William was impressed by their accounts of the non-literal opportunities in the Clay area and, in 1736, he immigrated to Pennsylvania. [illegible] Penn himself visited Pennsylvania in Sep 1734. "Penn, his family, friends, and their agents were responsible for the infamous 'walking Purchase,' which swindled the Lenape Indians out of more than one million acres (400,000 ha) of Pennsylvania." – Wikipedia]

William arrived in Philadelphia on 21 Sep 1734 on the ship "St. Andrew" captained by John Graham. This was the primary immigration of the Pennsylvania Pott family, although it was not one of them. William was accompanied by his brother Reginald, John William [illegible] business and his wife Gertrude. Gertrude was the widow of Fitz Lyford, and they [illegible] old Peter Lyford, William's stepson, with them. William stayed in Germantown for a brief time, then moved to [illegible] in the Clay valley to establish himself. (William was then [illegible] 1746 and the Lyford family stayed in the area long after the Pott family had died out. One [illegible] is named after them.)

Apparently, William bought land soon after Clark and Pennsbury Grant for [illegible] records. The deed to the property was translated to William in 1737, but in fact [illegible] Family was here by 1737. William established only [illegible] and [illegible] Valley mill. He was in business with the famous Clay [illegible] Co. John Fuller. [illegible] to what extent. William's grandson married Lucinda Grand Chapter. They were one of the few [illegible] county families to own black slaves. The Pott family was not a land owning family, William built his home some time between 1735-1745. William was very religious and active in the Clay Moravian movement. He traveled frequently to Bethlehem, Clay on religious matters and was a friend, personally of the famous Moravian, Friedrich Anton. [illegible] http://www.xxxxxx.net/~xxxxx/Anna/Antonfriedrich.htm for more on Anna.]

William died in 1761. I have examined his original will and estate inventory which is on record in the books County Courthouse. William's eldest son William died young and his next son John owned on the family name and inheritance until his death in 1805. I have calculated his original will and estate inventory to have much more is likely than the land.

John's eldest son John, Jr. had been sent up to what became Peru, then County to run a newly acquired iron works c. 1798. He remained there until his death in 1829 and is credited with really [illegible] and building anthracite coal in the production of iron. I found note that Peru[illegible] and Pottsgrove are named after the Potts family, not our people. Soon out Ft. Clay [illegible], including my own, to the eldest son William in 1805. William, however, relocated to Ft Fetter County (Gettysburg) c. 1808 and the Clay properties came into the possession of John, Jr. in Pottsville, although he never came back to live here.

I presume that William sold his holdings to his older brother John to finance his move to Franklin County. Upon John's death the Clay properties were inherited by his son Benjamin who promptly had them surveyed and sold them piece to the settlers in 1830.

The last Pott of influence in Clay died in 1859 [illegible] John Pott, Jr. The mansion began a slow process into oblivion, and from 1859-2000 was often vacant. We are presently restoring it. It is a fine and in many ways unique old Pennsylvania-German house. We have located a Clay grave yard on the property, but I doubt anyone was buried there after possibly 1840 or so.

Discovery of the Pott family graveyard

POTTS CEMETERY, LOBACHSVILLE, BERKS COUNTY, submitted by James A, McClean, Jr.
From "Grave Happenings," A Publication of the Berks County Association for Graveyard Preservation, Vol I, June 2006 http://www.bcagp.org/epi/grave_happenings.pdf

When Nancy and I purchased the old Pott Mansion in Lobachsville in March 2000, we began a journey of restoration of the derelict house and property that continues to this day. We also began to research the Pott family and in the process discovered the Pott family graveyard on our farm.

The following is a brief overview of the Pott family with an amphasis on the graveyard. If anyone is interested in further reading, an excellent chapter of George Meiser IX in "The Passing Scene," Volume III, and an article by Richard Orth in the Historical Review of Berks County, Volume 70, Number 1 (Winter, 2004-2005), consider the Pott family and the development of Lobachsville.

Wilhelm Pott, his wife Gertrude (the widow Lobach), his brother Deganhart, his children, and Peter Lobach arrived in Philadelphia on the Schwenkfelder ship "St. Andrew" in September 1734. Mr. Pott was a successful businessman who had heard about the iron making opportunities in Oley and he moved here in 1736. The Pott family formed marriage alliances with other prominent farmers of the day, including the Hochs, Kreims, and Leshers.

William was a very religious man and active in the Oley Moravian movement and the Brethren of Falkner's Swamp. Wilhelm Pott was an iron master with several forges. He also owned a large plantation (our present farm), grist mills, saw mills and fulling mills. Upon William's death in 1781, his son John Pott Sr took over the family business and continued, until his death in 1805, as a prosperous "man of affairs" in Oley. He sent his son John Pott Jr to run a forge in Schuylkill County circa 1795. John Pott Jr is credited with founding Pottsville and Centerport.

Upon John Pott's death in 1805, the family scattered throughout Pennsylvania, and the Pott name disappears from the Oley Valley shortly thereafter.

When the Pott family moved here circa 1736, there was already a settler's log cabin, built by an unknown hand on the farm. Its stone remains may be seen to this day. Sometime later they built a large (for the time) mansion. It has a date stone placed to the right of the front door that is marked "William Pott, 1755, John Pott."

1755 is the year John Pott Sr married Magdalena Hoch, whose twin sister marrried Jacob Keim of the neighboring Keim farmstead a year or two earlier. Based on architectural evidence, it is believe that the Pott mansion was built earlier, circa 1740, and raised a full story in 1755 to accommodate the newlyweds.

As mentioned, when we moved onto the farm in March 2000, it was largely derelict and overgrown with no ornamental plants, etc. However, approximately 50 feet west of the house was an area containing the largest tree on the farm, a great ash tree and ancient lilac bushes. As spring came, old style flowers came up, including lily of the valley and an heirloom tulip often found around old Pennsylvania German farms.

We were aware of the Berks County tradition of early family graveyards and, when some landscaping was done, we ordered the workmen to report unusual things they might find.

One morning, a man digging with a backhoe approached and said he had uncovered what appeared to be a remnant of a stone wall around the ash tree. A gentleman working on the inside of the house that day was a dowser and familiar with old graveyards. He borrowed some wire hangers and proceeded to "dowse" the graveyard, identifying a small plot surrounded by a wall and a "graveyard" pattern, indicating the gravesites.

At that point, we called in the BCAGP and Keith Schaeffer came to the farm to re-dowse the graveyard (we had not marked it after the initial dowsing). He identified the same walls and gravesites, including a child's grave. (We later learned that John Pott Sr's first-born daughter Esther died in infancy.) He also marked the perimeters of the graveyard with flags.

Several weeks later, we had the pleasure of a visit from Arthur Conrad, now deceased, who had grown up on our farm in the 1930s. He was able to identify many artifacts on the farm, the various outbuildings, etc. Upon observation of the flagged graveyard, Arthur noted that, when he was a boy, it had been surrounded by a picket fence and he was forbidden to go in, but his parents would never tell him what it was!

One day on business in Pottsville, PA, I visited the Schuylkill County Historical Society and was given a manuscript to review. It was the original of the inaugural address delivered to the Historical Society in 1900, entitled "History of the Pott Family" (it's interesting to note, the document was folded to fit in a vest pocket!) It was noted that living members of the Pott family were interviewed during his research and they spoke of the family's roots in Oley. It was also related that the original settlers, Wilhelm and Gertrude Pott were "buried on the homestead" – our farm! This is the only written reference to the graveyard known to me, thus far.

Discovery of the Pott family graveyard

POTTS CEMETERY, LOCHCHEVILLE, BIRDS COUNTY, surveyed by James A. McClain, Jr.
Plan "Grave Registry." Publication of the Birds County Association for Cemetery
Preservation, vol 1, June 2006. http://www.bcap.org/surveys/potts_cemetery.pdf

When Mary and I purchased the old Pott farmstead in March 2000, we began a journey of restoration of the derelict house and property that continues to this day. We also began to research the Pott family and in the process discovered the Pott family graveyard on our farm.

The following is a brief overview of the Pott family with an emphasis on the graveyard. If anyone is interested in further reading, an excellent chapter of George Nelson Dyer "The Passing Scene," Volume III, and an article by Barbara Orth in the Historical Society of Birds County, Volume 73, Number 1 (March, 2004-2005), consider the Pott family and the development of Lochcheville.

William Pott, his wife Cecelia (the widow Lockard), his partner Cleopatra, his children, and Peter Lockard arrived in Lochcheville on the Schenectady ship "A. Mallory" in September 1774. Mr.
Pott was a successful businessman in his old town and was already captain of ships in Otry and he moved here in 1776. The Pott family formed marriage alliances with other prominent families of the day, including the Hicks, Kellers, and Lockes.

William was a very religious man and a devout member of the Otry Hicksite congregation of the Society of Friends. William Pott was an iron master with several forges. He also owned a large plantation (the present farm), grist mills, saw mills, and fishing rights. Upon William's death in 1781, his son John Pott by Cleo took over the family business and continued with his death in 1824, as a prosperous "man of affairs" in Otry. He was the son John Pott, Jr. who is known as the founder of County circa 1725. John Pott, Jr. is credited with founding Potterville and Centerport.

Upon John Pott's death in 1824, the family experienced financial difficulties, and the land was subdivided into the Otry Valley Family thereafter.

When the Pott family moved here circa 1776, there was already a widow's log cabin, built by an unknown hand on the farm. It stood somewhere may be seen to this day. Sometime later they built a large (for the time) mansion. It had a date stone placed to the right of the front door that is marked "William Pott, 1785, John Pott."

1758 is the year John Pott II married Magdalena Hicks, whose two great-maternal Locke Kohn of the neighboring Kohn homestead a few of two earlier. Located on neighborhood evidence, it is believe that the Pott mansion was built on any circa 1780, and indeed a 1.5 story in 1772 to accommodate the newlyweds.

As mentioned, when we moved onto the farm in March 2000, it was largely derelict and in need with no operational plants, etc. However, approximately 50 trees were in the vicinity of the house consisting the largest pine on the farm, a great ash tree planted like sentinels. An spring-fed old style flowers come on, including lily of the valley and an heirloom bulb often found around old Pennsylvania German farms.

We were aware of the Otris County tradition of early family graveyards and what sorts landscaping was done, we entered the northern to report around through they might find.

One morning, a man digging with a backhoe encountered and said he had uncovered what appeared to be a remnant of a stone wall located (in fact true. A gentleman working on his ranch at the house that my was a lawyer and familiar with old graveyards. He conveyed story who helpful and interested to "clever" the graveyard, identifying a small plot surrounded by a wall and a "graveyard" pattern, including the gravestones.

In that years, we called in the LCHCP and Faith Schaeffer, area to the farm to to dowse the graveyard (we had not marked it after the initial dowsing). He identified the stone walls and gravesites, including a child's grave. (We later learned that John Pott Sr.'s first born daughter Esther died in infancy.) He also marked the perimeters of the graveyard with rebar.

Several weeks later, we had the pleasure of a visit from Arthur Cleary, now deceased, who had grown up on our farm in the 1930s. He was able to identify many artifacts on the farm, the various outbuildings, etc. (one distinction of the flagged graveyard, Arthur noted that, when he was a boy, it was open surrounded by a stone fence and he was forbidden to go in, for the parents would never tell him what it was.

One day on business in Potterville, PA, I visited the Schuyler County Historical Society and was given a manuscript to review. It was the original of the unsigned address delivered to the Historical Society in 1909, entitled "History of the Pott Family" (it's interesting to note, the document was dated to its to a west product). It was noted that living members of the Pott family were interviewed during the research and they spoke of the family's roots in Otry. It was also related that the original settlers, William and Cecelia Pott were "buried on the homestead" - our farm. This is the only written reference to the graveyard known to me) that is.

There is no surface evidence but probing indicates bricks laid several inches under the ground. Finally, the ancient barn on the farm has a sandstone marker carefully laid in a prominent place by the door. It is engraved "John Pott" but was reduced to fit the wall, cutting off approximately one third of the name. In all probability, a gravestone.

Notes on William Butt

His surname apparently morphed from his father's "Pott" to the "Butt" used by his descendants in Pennsylvania, Ohio, North Carolina, and Georgia, because of the sound on American ears of the German pronunciation of "Pott."

The William Pott who died in 1781 in Rockland Twp, Berks Co, Pennsylvania, would be the father of the subject of this note. His 1781 will names a deceased son William Pott. Both William Potts, father and son, name a daughter Catharina/Catherine in their wills.

In his Historical Collections relating to The Potts Family (Canonsburg, PA, 1901), p. 430, Thomas Maxwell Potts writes: "William Pott, who is believed to be identical with Johann Wilhelm Pott, son of Wilhelm Pott, the emigrant, was a resident of Huntingdon Township, York (now included in Adams) County, Pennsylvania. His wife's name was Margaret. He died in 1774. His will is recorded at York. The wife and children are mentioned by name.

CHILDREN OF WILLIAM AND MARGARET (-----) POTT.

2 William Pott	4 John Pott	6 Benjamin Pott
3 Jacob Pott	5 Degenhard Pott	7 Catherine Pott

See D G Lubold, "The Pott Family," Publications of the Historical Society of Schuylkill County, Vol I, No. 1 (1907), p. 32-33, where we read that the descendants of his brother John Pott (1726-1804) "speak of him as William and have always understood that he emigrated beyond the Susquehanna River, and that some of his descendants went to Virginia."

York County, where William Pott's will was recorded, is "beyond the Susquehanna River." Three of his sons -- William, Jacob, and Degenhard -- were in York County in the 1780s, using the surname Butt. They and their children later pioneered in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, in the 1810s.

As for descendants in Virginia . . . William Pott's sister Catharina Gertrude married a Schell in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and wound up in western North Carolina after passing through western Maryland. Both William Pott's third son John and his daughter Catherine and their families also migrated to western North Carolina.

Notes on William Butt

Mia Holmes reportedly received them via Fathom "Pete" on the "Date" used by Sea Observation to Investigation, Ohio, Ninth Committee, and Georgia, because of the wound up Dentists, many of the Supreme Prosecutorial "Pete."

The William Butt who died in 1781 in Portland Twp, Bucks Co, Pennsylvania, would be the father of the defunct of this note. His 1761 will names a Nathaniel son William Fox, Ruth William Penrose, Taylor and Ann, name a daughter Catherine/Catherine to Chris Hills.

In his Historical Collections relating to the Potts County Insurrection, 7th, 1811, p. 170, Thomas Pennell Potts writes "William Butt, who is believed by the Inhabitants with Joseph Williams Potts, son of William Potts, the engineer, was a resident of Washington township, York Town Inclined in Adams County, Pennsylvania. His wife's name was Patience. He died in 1778. His will is recorded at York. The wife and children are mentioned by name."

CONCERNING OF WILLIAM AND PATIENCE (-----) BUTT.

2 William Butt 1 John Butt 3 Benjamin Butt
2 Jesse Butt 3 Stephanie Butt 1 Catherine Butt

See D.E.Libbold, "The Butt Family," Publications of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania (1911), p. 22-27, which we used this for the description of its trouble. John Butt (1758-1824) "went to live in William and have already documented this be helpful before Pennsylvania River. See that name at its Pennsylvania mouth to Virginia."

York County, where William Potts will was recorded, is "between the Susquehanna River." There is his name — William, Jr., not Jr/Senior — more in this County in the 1790s, being the Antrims Butt. They and their eldest children later pioneered in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, in the 1810s.

As for descendants in Virginia . . . William Butt's eldest Catherine Gettrude married a Detail in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and moved up in western South Carolina after passing through western Kentucky. Both William Butt's sons, John and his daughter Catherine and their families also migrated to western South Carolina.

HISTORY OF FULTON CO

Greathead proposed that if he was really anxious to meet that officer, he and others would inform Capt. Jones by telegraph of his desire, and he (the rebel) should have his wishes gratified, but the valiant officer only muttered imprecations on the "—— Yankee ——," wheeled his horse and rode away. He wasn't anxious for the interview; was content with plundering, and then slunk away, keeping a sharp lookout, fearing "Capt. Jones of the 1st N. Y. Cavalry" might suddenly "bob up" somewhere, greatly to the rebels' discomfort.

THE WOMEN OF THE GREAT COVE.

Any sketch of Ayr and Tod townships and the borough of McConnellsburg (and in this they are inseparably interwoven) would be incomplete without at least a passing tribute to the devoted patriotism of the women of this valley during the war. In response to the calls from the Christian and Sanitary Commissions for hospital stores, they acted promptly and efficiently, and contributed freely and largely of clothing, bandages, lint, prepared fruits, delicacies, etc. Willing hands, prompted by loyal hearts, were busy preparing and collecting these stores. On several occasions it required great tact to conceal these from the plundering enemy, and on one occasion some of these stores did fall into the enemy's hands. Nothing daunted, these irrepressible, loyal women promptly set to work to duplicate them, as far as possible, and speedily supplied what had been confiscated by the raiders. It would be impossible to name all the noble spirits engaged in this work, and to name a few would be invidious discrimination, but it will not be deemed invidious to name the president of the Ayr Township Tributary Soldiers' Aid Society, Mrs. Margaret Kendall, née Logan, who had three sons in the army. After the raid that captured some of the society's stores, and when few horses were left in the valley, the younger members traveled on foot on this mission of mercy. McConnellsburg was the central depot for the valley, but the Ayr township stores were first gathered at the president's house. There were left on the Kendall property an old horse that the rebels did not think worth capturing and a rickety old cart of no use to them. With this team the society's president conveyed the stores to McConnellsburg, she accompanying and aiding in the work of forwarding. Tod township and McConnellsburg also were liberal in their contributions to the Christian and Sanitary Commissions, each vying with the others in the performance of a patriotic duty. For earnest, loyal devotion and patriotic liberality this beautiful valley, so fearfully sacked and plundered during the years of the war, can challenge comparison with any other community in the state and maintain its claim. No discrimination is here intended, as what is claimed for the Great Cove can, in kind, be claimed by other parts of the county.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

JOHN POTT.

On the records of Philadelphia for the year 1734, is found the following:

At the court house in Philadelphia, September 12, 1734, present, the Honourable the Lieutenant Governor, the Mayor of the city, and others of the Magistracy —eighty-nine Palatines, who, with their families, making in all two hundred and sixty-one persons, were imported here in the ship Saint Andrew, John Stedman, Master, from Rotterdam, but last from Plymouth, as by clearance from thence, this day took and subscribed the effect of the government oaths, and also the declaration prescribed by the order of Council of the 21st September, 1729.

Among those who "took and subscribed," etc., are the names of Wilhelm Pott and Degenhart Pott. Wilhelm brought with him a family, consisting of a wife and two sons, mere boys, named Johon Wilhelm and Johannes. They came from Germany. Of Degenhart nothing is known. Wilhelm, who is the original of the American line of this name, settled at Germantown soon after his arrival. At some time, date not known, the family moved up the Schuylkill to what, in 1752, became Berks county. Here, on December 28, 1755, Johannes married Miss Maria Hoch. On December 16, 1759, was born of this union a son, named John, who, in due time, date unknown, married Miss Maria Lesher. Of this marriage came John Pott, the subject of this sketch, who was born in Berks county, March 16, 1787, and the eldest of the family, there being five other sons, in the order of their ages, as follows: Benjamin, James, Abraham, William and Jacob, all of whom are dead.

In the year 1804 the elder John Pott purchased a large tract of land on the Schuylkill in the northerly end of, then, Berks, but which, in 1811, was erected into Schuylkill county, where, a few years before, had been erected a small furnace. To this place the elder Pott sent his son John to superintend his operations for the time being, he giving the work his casual personal supervision, but did not remove his family to his new place until 1810. The furnace was at once torn down and in its stead a forge was erected, and in 1807 he built a new furnace (Greenwood). It was while digging the foundation for this furnace that a vein of anthracite coal was uncovered, which the elder Pott tested in his blacksmith's forge with complete success. The existence of this "said to be coal," or "black stone," in this section, was previously known and some unsuccessful attempts to utilize it had been made. The idea was abandoned and it was left for John Pott, the elder, to demonstrate its inflammability and value as fuel. In 1810, while digging the foundation for a mill, near his furnace, another veil of coal, nine feet thick, was uncovered. Its worth had already been established, both in the smith's forge and in open grate. It now began to attract attention, and "openings" were made at other points, but it was far from market and without transporting facilities other than wagons. In 1812 Col. George Shoemaker transported nine wagon loads to Philadelphia, about one hundred miles, to introduce it. The idea of coal was scouted — he was pronounced an impostor, and the stuff to be nothing but "black stone." He was glad to be permitted to unload most of his stuff, to be used for making road, but succeeded in having one load tested at a rolling-mill, which, after much tribulation, proved a complete success, which gradually removed all doubt as to its burning qualities.* Foreseeing the results that must follow these discoveries and demonstrations, the elder John Pott, in 1816, laid out the town of Pottsville, which became, and has ever since been, the great central depot of the Schuylkill coal region.

But it was not until 1822 that the coal trade began to fairly expand and with it began the growth of the town. In 1825 the Schuylkill canal was opened to Port Carbon, and in that year the trade reached six thousand and five hundred tons, which has since grown to millions of tons annually from this region alone. Prior to the building of the canal, except the tenements necessary for the hands at Pott's ironworks, there were but few houses erected in the town, but with that era the flame of speculation ran high in town lots and coal lands, and its parallel has probably never occurred in Pennsylvania, except in the oil regions, in recent years. In these scenes, from the settlement in the wilderness, through the furor and excitement of the early development of the Schuylkill coal region and the building of the town, the subject of this sketch was an active participant. He was married September 16, 1812, to Miss Susannah Strauch, who died April 12, 1822, leaving two sons, Charles and William. William died in early manhood. Charles, recently deceased, leaves one son, bearing his own name, residing in Indianapolis, Indiana. April 11, 1824, John Pott married Miss Magdalena Bittle.

The elder John Pott died in 1827. During the succeeding year his son John removed to the west branch of the Schuylkill, four miles from Pottsville, and there established the Manheim Ironworks, where now is situated the flourishing town of Cressona. There also he built a flouring-mill. He operated these ironworks, furnace and forge, until some time in 1837, when he suspended work on account of the great depression in the iron trade as well as all other American industries, by reason of the disastrous effect of the "compromise" tariff of 1833, by which the duties on foreign products annually receded, until practical free trade was established; the American markets flooded with the cheap pauper-labor products of Europe; American enterprise and well-paid labor crushed, and the panic of 1837 was precipitated.

But it was while operating the Manheim furnace that John Pott worked out successfully a problem that had been the subject of anxious thought and experiment by ironmakers for some years, and which wrought a revolution in ironmaking.

The effort to use anthracite coal in furnaces to smelt iron ore had been made at different times, without success, by different persons, yet experimenting continued. During 1836, John Pott, with his Manheim furnace, set about a series of experiments and succeeded in demonstrating the practicability of anthracite for that purpose, so far as that could be ascertained in a furnace built for charcoal. He saw the necessity for a difference in the interior construction of the furnace. He remodeled the interior and tried again. The result was entirely satisfactory. He worked up the anthracite he had on hand, then used up what stock of charcoal he yet had, and, for the reason before recited, suspended business for the time being. He firmly believed that a revulsion of sentiment, produced by the distress with which the country was then afflicted, would bring a change as soon as the people could be heard. Confident in this, he, in due time, satisfied with his experiments and success as above related, commenced work during 1840 to enlarge the capacity of his furnace and to make such improvements as his experience taught him were required, preparatory to putting his works in operation again. This work had well progressed; a large stock of anthracite coal and iron ore had been delivered on the furnace bank, and all looked promising, when the great ice freshet, in the spring of 1841, utterly destroyed both furnace and forge. He did not rebuild again.

*In 1812 a number of gentlemen associated and applied to the legislature for a law for the improvement of the river Schuylkill, citing the coal as a justification. The senator then representing Schuylkill county in the legislature, in the face of the fact that during the past five years John Pott, Col. Shoemaker and others had successfully used the "black stone" as fuel, asserted that there was "no coal there"; that there was "a kind of black stone" that was "called coal," but that "it wouldn't burn."

Other parties were experimenting with anthracite at the same time, and also achieved success, but John Pott always asserted that he reached a successful solution before any of the others, and the reason he did not produce anthracite iron in commercial quantity, at that time, is for the cause above stated, but that he produced it in commercial quality and in quantity sufficient to make it a triumph. Others claim this for other parties, but for John Pott can be claimed at least a divided honor for giving this great industry to the country, and that Manheim furnace was the place where the success was achieved.

Thus was the elder John Pott the first in the Schuylkill coal region to successfully establish the combustibility of anthracite coal, and his son, John Pott, was the first to successfully use it in a blast furnace to smelt iron ore, while Abraham Pott, another son, built, in 1826, a short railroad from Black valley to the Schuylkill river, which, in point of date, takes precedence of the well-known railroad from Summit Hill to the Lehigh river, at Mauch Chunk, which was built in 1827, and is usually reputed to be the first ever built in this state, or even in the United States. He also erected, in 1829, the first steam engine ever used in Schuylkill county. In itself this is not much; but with this he was the first to successfully use anthracite to generate steam for an engine. This had been unsuccessfully tried by others; the grates in use would burn out in a single day. He then devised a form, made a pattern and had a grate cast that proved successful, and the grate bars now in use are essentially the same as those invented by Abraham Pott.

All these things were quietly accomplished; no patents applied for, but the benefits thereof given to the public.

In 1843, John Pott sold his Manheim furnace property, and in the following spring he removed to Bedford (now Fulton) county, where he had purchased the Hanover Ironworks property, and where he arrived with his family on April 19, 1844. Encouraged by the stimulus given to, and the improvement in, the iron and other industries by the protective tariff of 1842, he at once went to work to repair damages done to these works by a great freshet in 1843, and to build a new furnace, which was speedily completed and put in operation the same year and successfully operated for a brief period.

But on the principle, "Anything to win," the free-traders impudently assumed the rôle of protection to American industry in Pennsylvania, and by the fraudulent and deceptive campaign slogan, "Polk is a better tariff-man than Henry Clay," the free-traders triumphed in the presidential election of 1844, and as soon as possible after attaining to power, they repealed the protective tariff of 1842 and substituted the free-trade tariff of 1846, and, as a consequence, the American iron and other industries were again in a large measure either wholly paralyzed or badly crippled.

Mr. Pott vainly struggled against the tide. He had unlimited quantities of the richest iron ores, convenient to the furnace, and abundance of fuel near by, but found that he, like many others, could not compete with the British pauper-labor product, under free trade, and so, in 1847, he made the last blast in Hanover furnace, and this was the last of the once busy Hanover Ironworks, of which nothing now remains but the naked, dismantled furnace stack, shown in illustration. In 1846 he built a flouring-mill on the site of one of the forges, and the remainder of his life was devoted to milling and farming. He died November 26, 1856, leaving a widow and seven children, by this second marriage, surviving him. The widow died November 23, 1876.* The seven children—two sons and five daughters—are yet living, viz.: Maria, James, Rebecca, Melinda, Catharine, Jacob and Eliza B. The two children by his first marriage are dead, as previously noted.

Through one of the daughters, Melinda, of this family, intermarried with Charles T. Logan (since deceased, and the widow re-married with Frederick Van Lew), the American-born generations of Wilhelm Pott's descendants have reached the sixth in the genealogy of great-great-great-great-grandchildren, bearing the names of Logan and Langwith, residing in Iowa. Maria, intermarried with Rev. D. G. Klein, resides in Bedford county, Pennsylvania, and Eliza B., married to M. P. Crosby, resides in Franklin county, Pennsylvania; while the other four, two sons and two daughters, continue on the old homestead.

JUDGE DANIEL LOGAN.†

The subject of this sketch was born in McConnellsburg, Bedford (now Fulton) county, September 6, 1805. His father, Gawn Logan, was born in the County Derry, Ireland, in the year 1771, where he grew to manhood and was married. After having served a term of four years in the army, during which when off duty he employed his spare time mending shoes for the soldiers, and from his stinted earnings, by practicing economy, he saved enough to bring him to America, landing at New Castle in the year 1800 with his wife Eleanor and one child. He immediately set out for McConnellsburg, where his brother, Thomas Logan, who had preceded him a half score or more of years, resided. But falling short of funds he tarried several weeks at Lancaster to earn money to carry him to his destination.

Arriving at McConnellsburg, he at once established himself at his trade, shoemaking, and by industry and frugality he was soon able to buy for himself a home. Here he followed his humble calling and with such success that in 1807 he was enabled to purchase from James Kendall the tract of land in Ayr township, where originally, about 1735, the heroic widow Kendall settled. Here by industry and hard labor he continued to prosper, and raised a large family, and here he died, April 18, 1849, at the age of seventy-eight years. His wife survived him until October 28, 1851, and died at the age of eighty years.

By the terms of his father's will Daniel became owner of the farm on condition of paying to the other heirs the sums as provided by the will.

By successful management and industry he prospered, redeemed his obligations and has since added handsomely to the patrimonial acres, and now owns one among the finest farms in the valley.

And while he was thus prospering, Daniel Logan was not parsimonious, but was open-handed and ready to assist the honest, deserving poor, and to grant favors to all who applied to him for aid. He never learned to say "No," and an appeal, or even a simple request, was sufficient to secure the favor of his name, which has often caused him to be called upon as security to satisfy demands on default of the principals.

In like manner, when able to do so, he has often favored men with loans direct, when in pressing need, which, in not a few instances, have never returned to him; and by these several methods of favoring and befriending he has been required to pay many thousands of dollars, while some of the principals in these transactions, reveling in abundance, now snap their dishonest fingers in his face and defy him, and among these are several who have been honored with lucrative official trusts and are abundantly able to redeem their dishonored paper. The worst abuse Daniel Logan gets comes from the men and their kindred whom he has thus favored at great cost and inconvenience to himself.

The poor who have appealed to him worthily, in distress or want, have never been turned away empty-handed, and in this quiet way has he many times "cast his bread upon the waters." He never distressed nor oppressed anyone who dealt honorably with him.

In public and charitable matters he has not been behind his fellows in liberality, according to the importance of the measure or the project.

In 1874 his fellow citizens honored him by electing him associate judge, which position he filled for five years with credit to himself and advantage to the taxpayers.

* Magdalena Pott, the widow of John Pott, was the daughter of Andrew Bittle, and was born in 1805, in Berks (now Schuylkill) county. Her grandfather, the original of the stock in America, was a Swiss, and came to this country some years prior to the revolution, and was a soldier in the patriot army. His descendants are very numerous and are found in at least ten states of the Union.
